Gwen Johner has lived in Indian Head for the past 38 years.

After a rewarding career as an Elementary teacher she retired after 34 years.

She has been involved in many aspects of community life over the years, serving on many boards and committees. As someone living in a small community, she has had the opportunity to experience many aspects of culture, recreation, sport and working with other volunteers.

Currently, she is serving her second term as a Councillor for the Town of Indian Head. She is involved with Indian Head Community Development, Age Friendly Saskatchewan and ITAC( an intersectoral initiative within our community for partnerships and community wellness) She is past co-ordinator of Indian Head EMO.

She was Chairperson of Communities in Bloom from 2005-2018, and remains on the committee as a council liaison. Working to help deliver CIB workshops, being a Provincial judge, and acting as co-chair of the 2016 Symposium in Regina, has been rewarding.

She and her husband enjoy gardening and the rewards of living in our community. They are also enjoying their new roles as grandparents!
