Evelyn Alemanni

Writer

Escondido, CA USA

Evelyn Alemanni is a self-employed writer, photographer and award-winning gardener. She is the author of 12 volumes of her "Fleurs du Jour" series of books featuring bouquets for every day made from plants growing in her own garden. Evelyn's garden writing has appeared monthly in a wide variety of publications. She is a popular speaker at national conferences and has appeared on many radio and television programs.

She served as an international judge for the Communities in Bloom program since 2005 and has been a board member since 2017. She also judged for America in Bloom for 16 years and served as that organization's first vice president. She has served as an international judge for the LivCom awards and the Philadelphia Flower Show. To date, she has judged 179 towns in eleven countries.

In 2001, Good Morning America named Evelyn's garden one of the five best in the United States. It has been featured in many consumer publications including ten times in Better Homes and Gardens and its special interest publications and books.

Evelyn also served on the board of directors of the San Diego Botanical Garden and on the town council of Elfin Forest, CA including six years as chair (mayor).

Evelyn lives with her husband and four happy dogs in Elfin Forest, California and gardens on 5.5 acres.
