

2022 National Judge

Linda began gardening as a child and has never stopped. Two years ago she moved from Alberta to British Columbia, and downsized from a large acreage to a town lot. This transplanted gardener is learning to garden in the heat with less natural moisture.

Linda has written a gardening column for over 20 years which is carried by Black Press and a couple of independent newspapers. She was a regular contributor to Alberta Gardener.

Linda has been a judge with CiB for over 10 years.
